Looking in the Mirror: Do We Reflect What the Community Needs?

Eloy Oakley, Superintendent-President

This colloquium will introduce the college to the organizational and teamwork themes that will be part of our new Superintendent-President’s agenda. Join him for an exploration of how this goal of the Education Master Plan will take shape and how we can re-imagine our work together to better serve our students and community. After Mr. Oakley’s address, there will be time for questions and answers.

Faculty and Staff are encouraged to attend.
Release time is available to Classified employees who first secure approval from their supervisor to attend this event.

Continental Breakfast will be served at 7:30 am.
